

Statistics on enetCollect members and activities (state: Feb 2020)

In enetCollect two main communication channels are used to exchange information and actively build the network: the enetCollect-all mailing list, and the ILIAS intranet.

In addition, the enetCollect website (<https://enetcollect.eurac.edu>) hosts information on past and future Action meetings as well as links to outputs including scientific publications and public dissemination activities, related projects, and STSM reports.

The enetCollect Action was started on 07/03/2017. The statistics show values until 29/02/2020.

EnetCollect members

We have three ways of counting active members in enetCollect. First, the enetCollect-all mailing list collects subscriptions of anybody interested in following enetCollect activities. Second, members who are more closely involved in enetCollect, for example members who participated in meetings or STSMs are encouraged to also subscribe to the enetCollect intranet. Finally, the MC mailing list collects those members who belong to the Management Committee, the official body representing member countries.

Statistics related to member characteristics are based on the users registered on enetCollect's intranet.

Website

The enetCollect website presents information and material about enetCollect's objectives, structure, procedures and outputs. It is a reference for enetCollect members and receives further attention by external people who learned about the Action through enetCollect-related publications, directly through enetCollect members, or through any other networking channel.

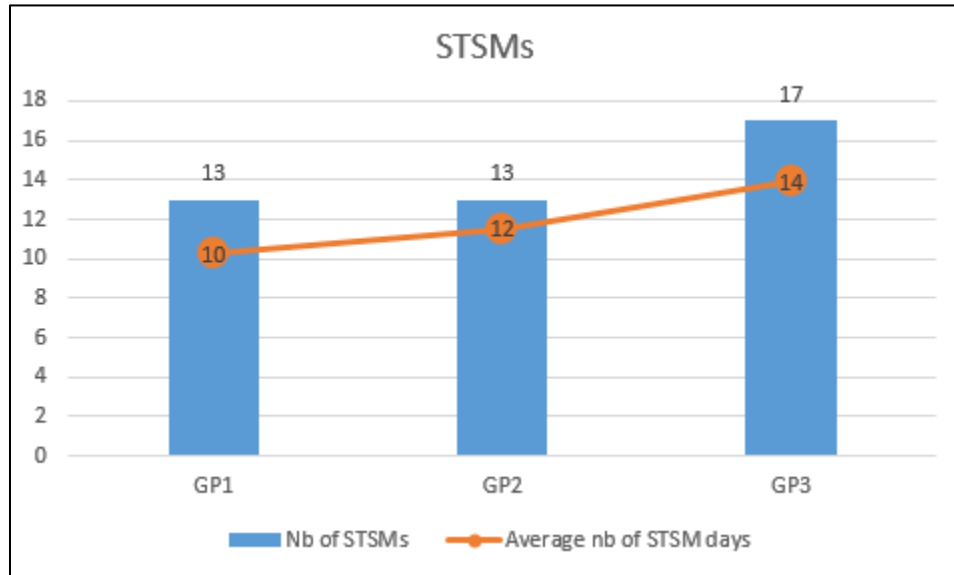

Communication on the enetCollect-all mailing list

The general mailing list of enetCollect is accepting subscriptions by anybody interested in following enetCollect. It is a moderated mailinglist which is open to enetCollect-related posts that are directly related to Action activities (e.g. calls for participation in WG meetings, calls for STSM proposals, etc.) and enetCollect-external posts that are related to the community and research domain that enetCollect is forming (e.g. announcements of conferences related to crowdsourcing, NLP and CALL, Human Computation, etc., announcements of related job posts, etc.). The highest frequency of activities is recorded from winter to spring of each year, while over summer activities are flattening.

Short Term Scientific Missions

Starting from Grant Period 1 (GP1) STSMs were fostered among Action members. Over the years the recommendations for planning STSMs were improved that costs for single STSMs were reduced and an overall increased number of STSMs could be funded.

Action meetings

Several Working Group meetings, hackaton-like meetings (Crowdfest) and Annual meetings have been organized so far. Thanks to an increasing participation, a better planning of the GP and an improved use of funds, both the number of meeting participants as well as the number of meetings steadily increased from a GP to the next one.
